

“Le génocide des Arméniens” de Taner Akçam publié en langue arabe

EREVAN -Turkish historian Taner Akcam’s books on the Armenian Genocide - “A Shameful Act: The Armenian Genocide and the Question of Turkish Responsibility” and the Killing Orders ...Talat Pasha’s Telegrams and the Armenian Genocide”, have been translated, published in Arabic and now are available to a broad audience.

Translator Kivork Khatoun Wanes, who is from Syria, has Armenian origins, but currently lives in Belgium, told Armenpress that the most important motive behind the translation of these books was the enrichment of the Arab Library on this subject which is rarely known to the Arab readers in addition to the courage, credibility, objectivity and impartiality of the writer.

“A Shameful Act: The Armenian Genocide and the Question of Turkish Responsibility” was published in August 2017, and the second one in September 2019 in Lebanon by Dar Alfarabi international alliance of independent publishers. These two books are available online via the following websites: www.neelwafurat.com, www.Jamalon.com.

“At the beginning of 1915, under the cover of the World War I, a whole nation was