MEHMET POLATEL

2019-2020 CENTER JUNIOR POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH FELLOW
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

In this lecture, Mehmet Polatel (Ph.D. in History, Boğaziçi University, Turkey) explores the relationship between the Hamidian massacres of the 1890s and the Armenian genocide of 1915. Drawing from archival documents and USC Shoah Foundation Visual History Archive testimonies, Dr. Polatel traces people and groups who were directly involved in both of these episodes of mass violence as perpetrators and usurpers and underscores the significance of the Hamidian massacres in the shaping and unfolding of the genocide.
